Restaurateur Helper
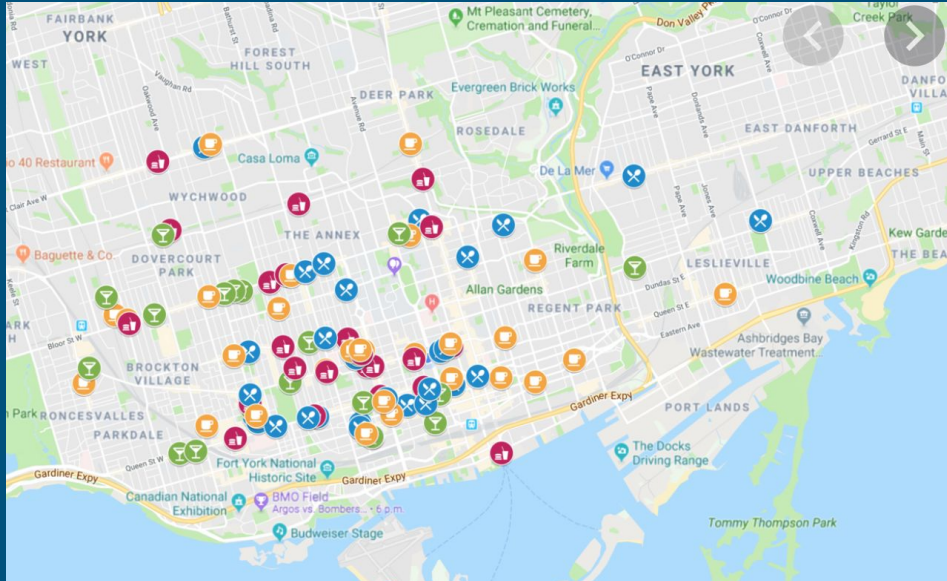

The landscape

Toronto is a highly populated city with multiple neighbourhoods with varying needs.

Deciding what type of restaurant to open can be challenging due to the density of competition.

Data and Implementation

- By using the Foureqaure API and wrangling through Cencus Data, a clean and legible table is created. This table lays out all the pertinent information needed, such as neighborhood income, population size and density.